- Example 2:
- Ambiguous: "You're looking hot today."
- (Is the person physically warm, or are they being complimented on their appearance?)
- Unambiguous:
- "You're looking very attractive today."
- "You seem warm today."

CLASS ACTIVITY: AMBIGUITY DETECTION

- Task 1:
  Given the following ambiguous sentences, rewrite them to be clear and unambiguous:

1. "They are hunting dogs."
2. "The chicken is ready to eat."
3. "We saw her duck."

REAL-WORLD CONSEQUENCES OF AMBIGUITY
Legal documents are often carefully worded to avoid ambiguity, as it can lead to disputes and misunderstandings.
Example:
Ambiguous contract language can cause disagreement about terms.
Business Ambiguity: Ambiguous instructions or emails can lead to confusion among team members.
Example:
An unclear email subject like "Meeting tomorrow" can be interpreted as either a reminder or a request to schedule a meeting.

AMBIGUOUS PARAGRAPH:

- When Emily met Claire at the gallery after the exhibition, she told her that the painting she had submitted with her colleague had been sold, although the critic had questioned its originality. Claire mentioned that she had seen the artist discussing the painting with a visitor who had been examining a similar work, but she could not tell whether the visitor had mistaken the original for a copy or whether the artist had deliberately presented the copy as an original. Since everyone agreed that the exhibition was a remarkable success, Emily suggested that they should contact the collector before the other gallery did. Claire thought this was a brilliant idea, though she wondered whether Emily intended to protect the artist's reputation or secure the commission for herself. Later, when she showed her the photograph of the woman standing beside the sculpture, she remarked, "That was an extraordinary piece of work."

UNAMBIGUOUS

After the exhibition, Emily met Claire at the gallery. Emily told Claire that the painting Emily had co-created with her colleague had been sold, although a critic had questioned the painting's originality. Claire said that she had seen the artist discussing the painting with a visitor who was examining another artist's work. Claire could not tell whether the visitor had mistaken the original painting for a copy or whether the artist had deliberately presented a copy as an original.

Since everyone agreed that the exhibition had been successful, Emily suggested that Emily and Claire contact the collector before the rival gallery contacted him. Claire genuinely admired Emily's suggestion, but she wondered whether Emily wanted to protect the artist's reputation or earn the commission for herself. Later, Emily showed Claire a photograph that Emily had taken of a woman standing beside a sculpture. Claire praised the sculpture and said, "The sculpture is an extraordinary piece of work."

STRATEGIES TO RESOLVE AMBIGUITY
• Use Specific Words: Replace vague terms with more precise language.
• Example:
Ambiguous: "He's going to the bank."
Unambiguous: "He's going to the financial bank."
• Rearrange Sentence Structure: Change the sentence order to clarify the meaning.
• Example:
Ambiguous: "She saw the man with the binoculars."
Unambiguous: "Using binoculars, she saw the man."
• Add Context or Explanation: Provide extra details to clear up any potential misunderstanding.

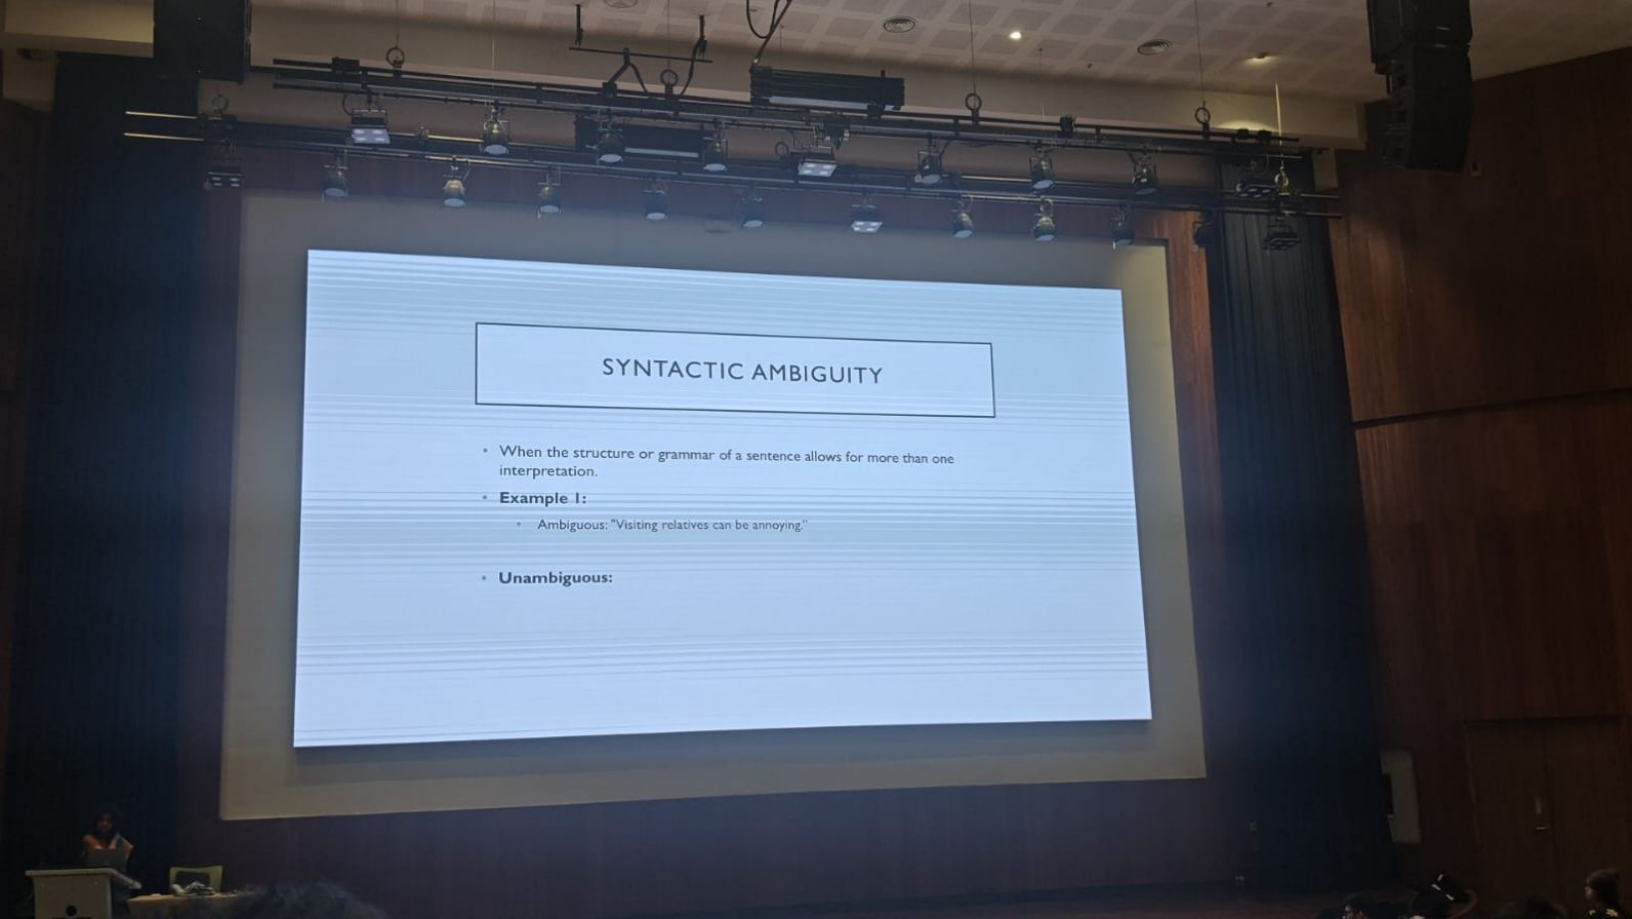

LEXICAL AMBIGUITY
Example 2:
Sentence: "She can't bear children."
Ambiguous Meaning:
(a) She is unable to have children.
(b) She finds children intolerable.
Unambiguous Rewrite: "She is unable to have children due to medical reasons."

LEXICAL AMBIGUITY

- Example 2:
- Sentence: "She can't bear children."

LEXICAL AMBIGUITY

- Lexical ambiguity arises when a word has more than one meaning. The same word can be interpreted in different ways depending on the context.
- Example 1:
- Sentence: "I went to the bank."

SYNTACTIC AMBIGUITY
When the structure or grammar of a sentence allows for more than one interpretation.
Example 1:
Ambiguous: "Visiting relatives can be annoying."
Unambiguous:

PRAGMATIC AMBIGUITY

- When the meaning of a statement is unclear due to the context, culture, or situation in which it is spoken.
- Example 1:
- Ambiguous: "Can you pass the salt?"
- (Is this a request or a question about capability?)

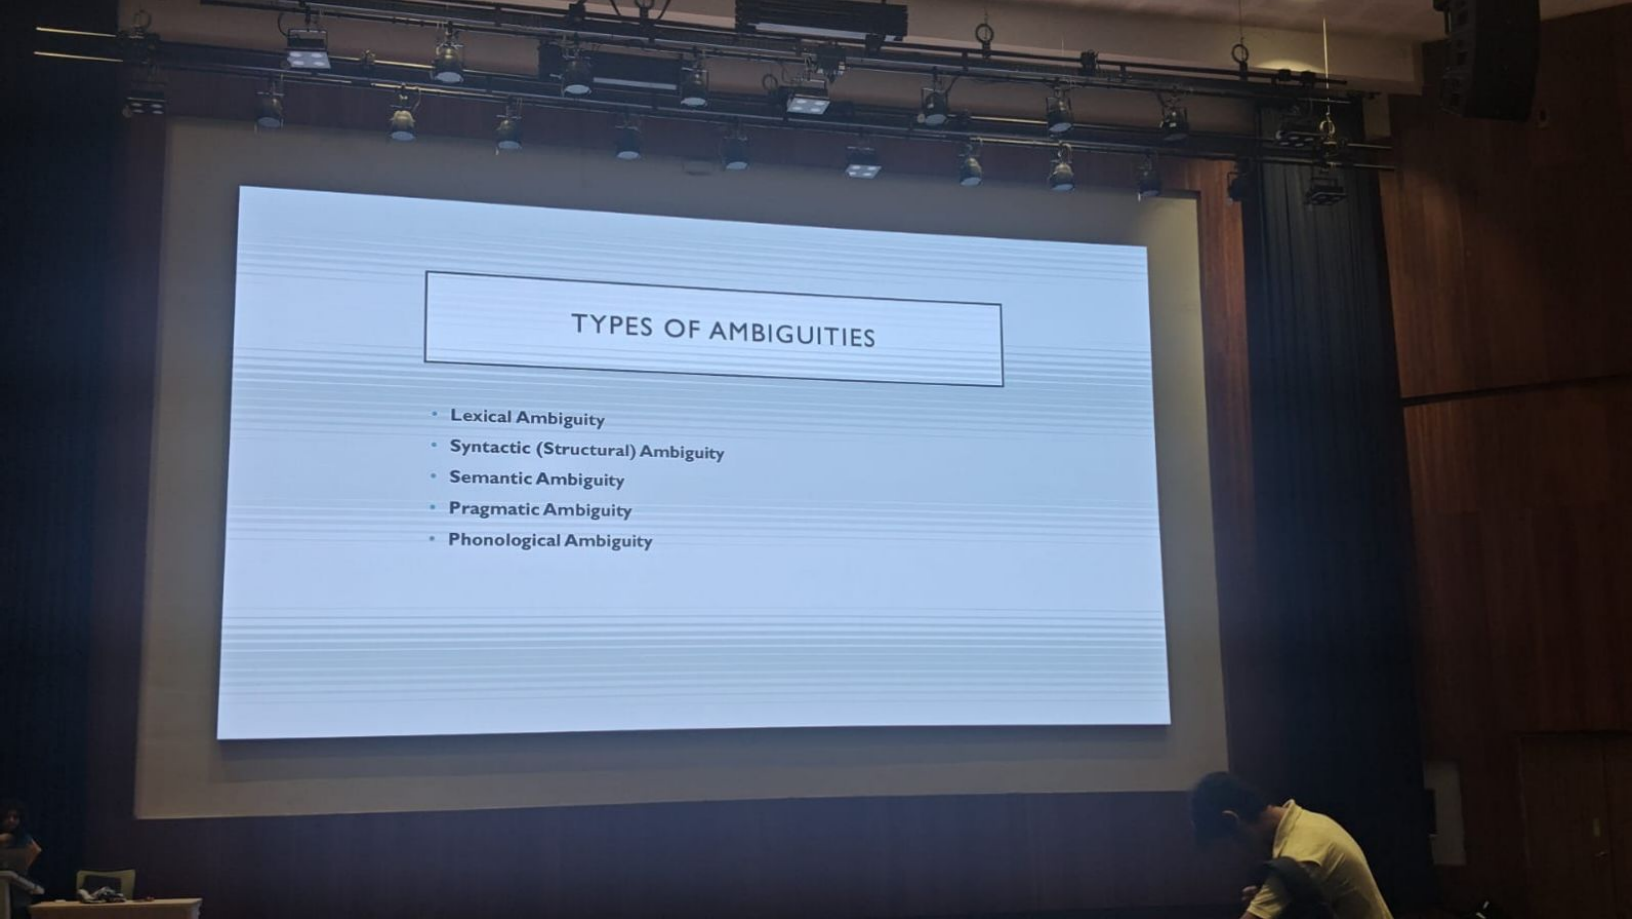

SEMANTIC AMBIGUITY
When the meaning of a phrase or sentence is unclear due to the vagueness of language or multiple interpretations of a term.
Example 1:
Ambiguous: Every student read a book.

PRAGMATIC AMBIGUITY

- When the meaning of a statement is unclear due to the context, culture, or situation in which it is spoken.
- Example 1:
- Ambiguous: "Can you pass the salt?"
- (Is this a request or a question about capability?)
- Unambiguous:
- "Please pass the salt."
- "Are you able to pass the salt?"

SEMANTIC AMBIGUITY
Example 2:
Ambiguous: "He gave her cat food."
(Did he give food to her cat, or did he give her some cat food?)
Unambiguous:
"He gave food to her cat."
"He gave her some cat food."

Example 2:
Ambiguous: "You're looking hot today."
(Is the person physically warm, or are they being complimented on their appearance?)

TYPES OF AMBIGUITIES
Lexical Ambiguity
Syntactic (Structural) Ambiguity
Semantic Ambiguity
Pragmatic Ambiguity
Phonological Ambiguity

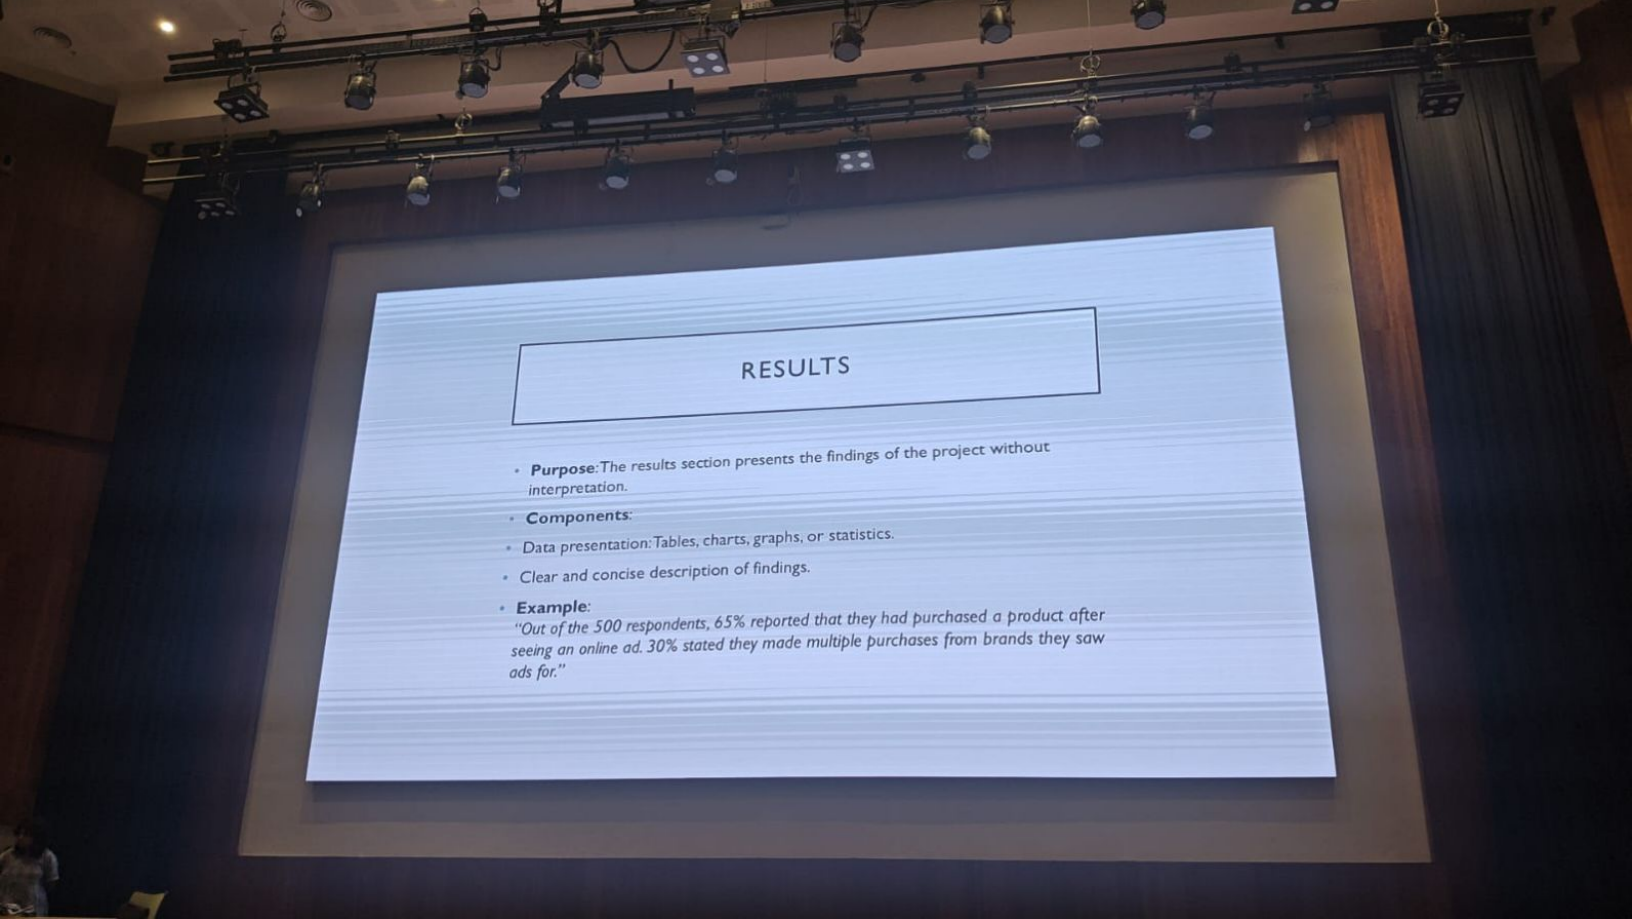

INTRODUCTION
Ambiguity in language refers to the presence of two or more possible meanings in a single word, phrase, or sentence. It can lead to confusion in communication.
Why it's Important:
Misunderstandings in conversations.
Errors in professional or legal contexts.
Difficulty in interpreting written instructions.

WRITE A PROJECT ON EMPLOYEE PRODUCTIVITY

- Title
- Abstract
- Introduction: Background information on the increasing trend of remote work.
- The problem you aim to solve (e.g., understanding the impact of remote work on productivity).
- The objective of your project (e.g., assessing how remote working affects employee efficiency).
- Methodology:
  Be specific about the data collection methods you would use, the sampling technique, and the tools you would employ to gather and analyze the data.
- Results:
  70% of respondents reported increased productivity while working remotely.
- 25% of respondents felt less productive, citing distractions at home.
- 5% of respondents showed no significant change in productivity.
- Conclusion:
- Write a concise results section summarizing these findings.

METHODOLOGY

- Purpose: The methodology section explains how the research or project was carried out. It should be specific enough for someone else to replicate the study or process.
- Components:
- Research design: Survey, interviews, or experimental setup.
- Sampling methods: How participants or data were selected.
- Tools and materials: Surveys, software, etc.
- Data collection and analysis techniques.
- Example: "We conducted a survey of 500 participants aged 18-34 from various regions. Data was collected through an online questionnaire, focusing on the frequency and impact of online ads."

RESULTS
• Purpose: The results section presents the findings of the project without interpretation.
• Components:
• Data presentation: Tables, charts, graphs, or statistics.
• Clear and concise description of findings.
• Example:
"Out of the 500 respondents, 65% reported that they had purchased a product after seeing an online ad. 30% stated they made multiple purchases from brands they saw ads for."

COMMON MISTAKES TO AVOID

- Mistake 1: Lack of clarity or vague descriptions of methods.
  - Fix: Provide detailed, step-by-step descriptions.
- Mistake 2: Overloading the results section with unnecessary information.
  - Fix: Only include the most relevant data, and present it clearly.
- Mistake 3: Weak or unsupported conclusions.
  - Fix: Ensure your conclusions are directly supported by the data collected during the project.
- Example:
  - "Results showed that ads were effective, but no detailed analysis was provided on why certain ads worked better than others."

INTRODUCTION

- Purpose: The introduction sets the stage for the project by providing context, defining the problem, and stating the project's objectives.
- Components of a Good Introduction:
- Background information
- Problem definition
- Objectives of the project
- Scope of the study
- Example: "This project explores the influence of digital advertisements on the purchasing habits of consumers aged 18-34. The goal is to understand how targeted ads impact buying decisions."

COMPONENTS OF A PROJECT REPORT

- Title Page: Includes project title, team members, date, and any other relevant details.
- Abstract: A brief summary of the project's goals, methods, results, and conclusions (typically 150-200 words).
- Table of Contents: An outline of all the sections within the report.
- Introduction: An overview of the problem, project goals, and relevance.
- Methodology: Detailed explanation of how the project was conducted.
- Results: Key findings from the project.
- Discussion: Interpretation of the results.
- Conclusion: Summary of what was learned, along with recommendations.

PROJECT WRITING

- Purpose of Project Writing:
  Project writing involves presenting findings, processes, and outcomes of a specific project in a clear and organized manner. It's crucial for sharing research, proposals, or analysis results with stakeholders.
- Importance:
  Effective project writing helps ensure clarity in communicating objectives, methods, and results, and is vital for project tracking and evaluation.

COMBINATION RESUME

Joe Applicant

123 Main Street • Oakland, CA 12345 • (123) 456-7890 • joe.applicant@email.com

EDUCATION COORDINATOR/SUPERVISOR

Effectively managing staffs in both the blood bank and business arenas

Results-oriented, high-energy, hands-on professional with 10+ years' experience and a successful record of accomplishments in the blood banking, training, and communication transmission industries.

Key skills include:

- Experience in Quality Assurance and Customer Service in Two Industries
- Excellent Communication Skills
- Team Building & Leadership
- Internal & External Communications
- Experience in Training and Payroll

PROFESSIONAL EXPERIENCE

AMERICAN RED CROSS, Oakland, Calif.
EDUCATION MANAGER / EDUCATION COORDINATOR (February 2013 – Present)
Facilitated successful educational project over the past five years for Northern California blood centers, with FDA regulated manufacturing equipment, as pertaining to CGMP, CFRs, Calif. State and American Association of Blood Bank (AABB) regulations.
Notable accomplishments:

- Provide daily operational review/quality control of educational accountability to meet regulations.
- Responsible for assuring uncompromised compliance with 23 organizational quality systems.

CORE COMMUNICATION INC., Sunnyvale, Calif.
CABLE TELEVISION SUPERVISOR (May 2008 – February 2013)
Supervised contract support for six AT&T Broadband systems located in the Bay Area.
Notable Accomplishments:

- Provided customer support/resolution, training in telephony and customer care.
- Handled quality control, payroll, special projects/plant extensions, and staff evaluations.

EDUCATION & CREDENTIALS

SAN JOSE STATE UNIVERSITY, San Jose, Calif.
Bachelor of Science (GPA; 3.8; Major: Administration of Justice; Graduated Cum Laude), May 2008

Certifications
NCCT Phlebotomy Technician Certification • NCCT Certified • CATV System Technician

Information Technology Skills
Microsoft Office Suite • ADP / Workforce Now • Proficient in Various Payroll Software Systems

COMBINATION RESUME

- This format often offers the best of both worlds for job seekers who might prefer to present their resume in a functional format, emphasizing their skills and qualifications, but who have been instructed by the employer to include a work history.
- For those who wish to avoid a traditional chronological resume—either because of unrelated jobs or employment gaps— this format is a good compromise.

TAILORING A RESUME FOR A JOB

- Tailor your resume for a job in marketing by emphasizing relevant marketing skills, such as social media, SEO, and market analysis.
- Read the job description and highlight skills and experiences that match.
- Keep it clean, readable, and to the point.
  - Example: Use bullet points for clarity.
- Mistakes to Avoid: Typos, long paragraphs, outdated information.
  - Example: Avoid saying "References available upon request" — it's implied.

EMAIL ETIQUETTE

- Be Concise and Clear: Ensure your email is to the point.
- Example: "Please confirm receipt of this email" is a direct, clear message.
- Avoid Overuse of Capital Letters: It can seem like shouting.
- Example: "Please send the report" vs. "PLEASE SEND THE REPORT!!!"
- Proofread: Avoid typos or grammar errors before sending an email.
- Using the Correct Tone
- Using a Subject Line: Leaving the subject line blank confuses the recipient.
- Attachments: Always double-check before hitting send.

EXERCISE

- You are a recent graduate seeking information about a training program offered by a reputable company. You found their contact email on their website and want to inquire about program details, application deadlines, and any required qualifications. Write a formal email to the program coordinator, Mr. Alex Johnson, to request the necessary information. Be polite, concise, and professional in your tone.
- Email Requirements:

1. Use a formal salutation and closing.
2. Mention how you found out about the program.
3. Ask at least three specific questions about the program.
4. Keep the email between 120-150 words.

TYPES OF RESUMES

- Chronological Resume: Lists work history in reverse order. Ideal for those with consistent experience.
  - Example: A candidate with 5 years of experience in marketing.
- Functional Resume: Focuses on skills and experience rather than employment history. Best for those with gaps in their career.
  - Example: A candidate transitioning from education to HR.
- Combination Resume: Combines both, emphasizing skills and chronological work history.

CHRONOLOGICAL RESUME

James Applicant

Edmond, OR • (555) 555-1212 • james.applicant@email.com

OVERVIEW

Energetic and motivating leader with a proven ability to effectively manage both staff and long and short-term projects. A self-starter and strong independent worker who excels at analyzing products and procedures in order to generate new ideas that improve efficiency and production quality.

PROFESSIONAL EXPERIENCE

COMFORT, INC., Edmond, OR
MANAGER (2018-Present)

Manage daily operations of a $1 million foam insulation company.

- Train and supervise work crews in more efficient product installation techniques resulting in reduced material waste by 20% and labor hours by 43%.
- Instrumental in developing sales team's knowledge in the areas of building science and energy conservation in order to provide customers with the information to successfully plan for, and utilize, spray foam insulation.

MILITARY BASE, Edmond, OR
DATA NETWORK MANAGER (2016-2018)

Managed command and control data network used to generate video representation of geographic area surrounding the ship. The team consisted of 38 individuals from four departments.

- Production Control Officer - Coordinated the efforts of 135 personnel utilizing 37,000 man hours. Completed 520 jobs totaling over $4 million during a 13-month refurbishment period.
- Assistant Command Duty Officer - Directed daily routine utilizing a duty section of 600 personnel from 12 different departments.

MILITARY BASE, Edmond, OR
INSTRUCTOR PILOT (2012–2016)

Administered, coordinated, and supervised flight and academic training for the United States flight training program that encompassed over 200 instructors and 600 students in five units.

- Coordinated and supervised four Flight Commanders to ensure that pilot completion rates met quarterly and annual goals.
- Managed and scheduled 11 instructor pilots and 38 flight students to complete primary and intermediate level flight training.

EDUCATION

AUBURN UNIVERSITY, MBA in Finance, 2021
UNIVERSITY OF COSTA RICA, Bachelor of Arts in Business Economics, 2012
Aviator - Advanced Flight Training, United States Flight Patrol

FUNCTIONAL RESUME

Jose Applicant

321 Jackson Street • San Jose, CA 55555 • (123) 456-7890 • jose.applicant@email.com

PHLEBOTOMIST

Successful track record in the blood-banking care environment

Results-oriented, high-energy, hands-on professional with skills in management, quality assurance, program development, training, and customer service.

Key skills include:

- Blood banking
- Quality assurance
- AABB accreditation
- Compliant with FDA cGMP

PROFESSIONAL ACCOMPLISHMENTS

EDUCATIONAL

- Facilitated educational projects from 2019-2020 for Northern California blood centers.

PHLEBOTOMY

- Assisted team members in veni-punctures; donor reaction care; and providing licensed staffing to extend their duties by managing the blood services regulations documentation (BSDs) while assigned to the self-contained blood mobile unit (SCU).

COMPLIANCE

- Provided daily operational review/quality control of education accountability as it relates to imposed government regulatory requirements in a medical environment.

PROGRAM MANAGEMENT AND SUPERVISION

- Successfully supervised contract support for six AT&T Broadband systems located in the Bay Area prior to a career in phlebotomy. Managed scheduling, quality control, payroll, special projects, and evaluations to ensure proper end-of-line and demarcation signal.
- Reduced employee turnover, introduced two-way communication to field employees, enhanced employee appearance, and spearheaded the expansion of employee (health) benefits.

TECHNOLOGY

- Chief point of contact for the AT&T telephone and the ABC-affiliated TV stations as related to complaints and diagnosing communication problems either at the site or remote broadcasting.

EDUCATION & CREDENTIALS

SAN JOSE STATE UNIVERSITY, San Jose, Calif.
Associate of Applied Science in EKG-Phlebotomy, 2017

RESUME

- Purpose: A resume is a personal marketing document. It highlights your qualifications, work experience, and skills to potential employers.
- Importance: It serves as your first introduction to an employer, and it should reflect your best qualities.

TYPES OF EMAILS
• Professional Emails: Emails sent for work-related purposes.
• Example: Requesting a meeting: "Dear Mr. Smith, I hope you are doing well. I wanted to schedule a meeting to discuss the new project..."
• Informal Emails: Emails to friends or acquaintances, usually more casual in tone.
• Example: "Hey Sarah, I was thinking about our trip next week!"

To: jsmith23@a.edu
From: xxx@gmail.com

Subject: Assignment

Hey Dr. Smith

I can't find my copy of the assignment you was telling us about. Do you think you could get me another one ASAP?

Thanks!!!

xxx

Roll no. 1234

To: jsmith23@a.edu
From: xxx@gmail.com

Subject Line: Project

Dear John,

Hi, i am student of … Department, im interested in Simulation Team Project under your supervision, Please guide me, I am looking for your kind reply. I shall be very thankful to you.

Kind Regards,

xxx

Roll no. 1234